

The Sick Woman & Jesus

A woman had been very sick with a bleeding illness for many years. She heard that the teacher Jesus was coming to her village, and wanted to see him. She planned to ask him to heal her.

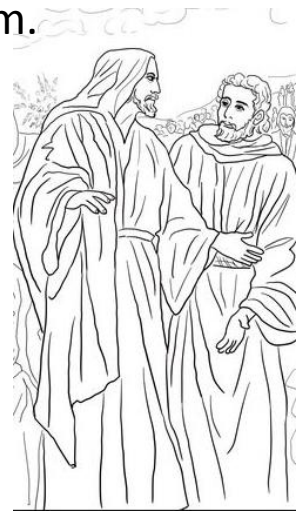

But when he arrived in her village, there were thousands of people crowded around him. She saw no way to get his attention so that she would be able to speak to him.

1

The woman had heard the stories people told of Jesus' great healing power. She was determined not to give up, even though there were huge crowds of people all around so that she could not get close to him.

The woman decided that even if she was unable to speak to Jesus; if she could just touch the bottom of his robe, she believed that would be enough to heal her.

She crawled through the crowd of people to move closer to him.

2

She finally reached a point where she could see Jesus in front of her, talking with others. From her crouched position, she reached out to touch the hem of his long robe.

Sensing that something important had happened, Jesus turned around and said to the woman: “Take heart, daughter; your faith has made you well.”

And instantly the woman was healed of her disease.
